State police, sheriff investigating Gulfview emergency storm repairs

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
State Highway Patrol investigators and the Hancock County Sheriff's Department are investigating 'alleged irregularities' in emergency repair contracts at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson stated Wednesday afternoon, "The investigation has been going on for the past several weeks and some irregularities have already been uncovered which could result in criminal prosecution."

"The sheriff's department and highway patrol investigators are conducting an 'in depth' investigation concerning the emergency repairs executed at Gulfview after a tornado touched down May 19," the sheriff explained.

"We now have two sheriff's investigators and four state highway investigators pursuing the investigation and possibly could be calling in a certified public accountant from the State Attorney General's office to help in the case," Peterson stated.

"The investigation being conducted is expected to be very lengthy, concerning alleged irregularities at the Gulfview School," Peterson reported.

"We feel the investigation could last four to six weeks before we report any findings concerning the case," the sheriff added.

"We talked with District Attorney Albert Necaise concerning the investigation, which led to state investigators assisting the sheriff's department on this matter," he said.

School Board President Woodrow Ladner said Wednesday afternoon he had a 'roundabout idea' there was an investigation underway and 'knew they were asking questions.'

When asked if he felt any particular contractors were being investigated Ladner replied, "I have an idea, but I think they'll be investigating all of the contractors."

Ladner said he felt all work at Gulfview 'was done satisfactorily and done within reason.'

The school board president explained Gulfview had to be completely rebuilt not just because of tornado damage, but also due to two days of rain which followed the Lakeshore disaster.

At a regular meeting Tuesday night, the board rescinded a portion of a motion from a prior meeting which stated School Board Architect John Mykolyk of Pass Christian approved a $5,091 payment to Bay Contractors of Diamondhead.

Ladner said Wednesday, "That portion of the motion was rescinded on board member Monvel Cuevas' request because he thought the architect had not approved the work."

"Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills ok'd it and if he ok'd it I had to go along and pay it," Ladner added. The school board president said no investigators had contacted him regarding the case.

"I feel everything done at Gulfview was done legitimately and nothing was done with criminal intent," Ladner stated.

Regarding the Tuesday night board action, Cuevas said Wednesday afternoon, "I thought it would be unfair to Mykolyk to leave in that part of the motion."

"I heard Mykolyk say he had not recommended the repairs and it would be unfair to leave that statement in the minutes," Cuevas explained.

The school board member said he did not contact Mykolyk after the meeting. Mykolyk said Wednesday afternoon, "All I've been doing is approving construction work."

"At the end of the project I made a punch list for the board and I just left it up to them to handle these items. Sills has been handling the contracts and we were just handling the construction work," the school architect explained.

"As far as the scope of the work, the school board did a lot of things I didn't know about," Mykolyk added.

The school district architect said he was not aware of an investigation of Gulfview repairs and had not been contacted by any investigators.

"I think the work has been done pretty well," Mykolyk noted.

"However, the school board can take insurance money and do something else with it if they want to. From what I've been hearing the work at Gulfview has been escalating..." Mykolyk reported.

The Pass Christian architect said he had submitted a typewritten 'punch list' to the board listing deficiencies in light fixtures, painting, etc.

The list the board reviewed was handwritten copy.

Sills said Wednesday afternoon, "Peterson, Sheriff's Investigator Delbert Seay and I talked Thursday morning."

"They wanted copies of bills and everything from the Gulfview project," the superintendent reported.

Sills noted he furnished all the information the sheriff requested, but he has not talked with any state investigators.

"I want to make it plain, I have nothing to hide and I welcome the investigation. I have not done anything wrong," Sills stated.

When asked if any particular contractors were under investigation, Sills replied, "I'm assuming they're investigating all Gulfview contractors."

"I'm working with the sheriff's department as much as I can," he added.

Sills said contractors performing emergency repairs at Gulfview were MIRI, Inc. of Long Beach, Stinson Fence Co. of Bay St. Louis, Bay Contractors of Diamondhead, Gulf Coast Security of Bay St. Louis and Gulf Electric Co. of Gulfport.

LABOR DAY ACCIDENT—Kim Favre, of Bay St. Louis is attended by Paul Kenny and Richard Dawson of Mobile Medic, with volunteer fireman Jimmy Crawford, Hancock Deputy Ray Murphy and passersby offering assistance on Lower Bay Road Labor Day. Favre's truck ended up in a ditch and he was rushed to Gulfport Memorial. Murphy said Favre received more than 250 stitches for multiple face lacerations and suffered a dislocated hip. A passenger with Favre, 13-year-old Jimmy R. Necaise, was thrown from the vehicle. He was checked and released from the hospital, according to police. The late afternoon accident was investigated by Murphy and Auxiliary Deputy Linda Sand. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Waveland drownings bring ninth lawsuit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Hancock County has been named again as a third party defendant in another $1 million lawsuit resulting from Waveland hole drownings over the past few years.

At a Tuesday meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, Board Attorney Walter Gex said a ninth Waveland hole suit has been filed in federal court.

Gex said Wednesday approximately $9 million in lawsuits have resulted from the drownings.

The latest action has been filed by Maurice W. Remy Sr. of Slidell, father of the deceased Dale J. Remy who drowned in the Waveland hole on June 3, 1979. He was 23 years old.

A copy of the order from the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi—Southern Division names Farrell Construction Co. of Tennessee, Kingfisher Marine Services of Texas, Janchke Dredging Co. of Louisiana and a John Doe project engineer as defendants.

In an unusual twist to the case, the United States of America is also a defendant and a third party plaintiff. Case documents state, "Hancock County was negligent in failing to take proper measures to protect the public, and in failing to maintain proper warning signs in the beach and borrow areas."

In other business, at the regular 9 a.m. meeting at the County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, the board:

—Approved a County Port and Harbor Commission resolution presented by Director W. Wilson Wehre for installation of 560 feet of eight-inch water main, to the Borg-Warner Chemical site at Port Bienville Industrial Park;

—Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre authorizing bid advertisement for rental of a D6 bulldozer for 120 hours to clear a roadway site around the southern perimeter of the Borg-Warner plant site;

—Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre authorizing a $5,000 payment to the estate of Rebecca Seal for a one-acre site on Firetower Road for Stennis International Airport's proposed non-directional beacon;

—Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre requesting the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to rededicate the Port Bienville channel near the East Pearl River and Cross Bayou; —Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre authorizing the director to purchase 128 feet of concrete drain pipe for the roadway around the Borg-Warner site —Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre authorizing acceptance of a $12,000 insurance settlement check for damages to the Stennis airport hanger building roof;

—Approved a commission resolution presented by Wehre authorizing a $7,141 transfer from the Industrial Park Revenue Fund to the Bond Fund for an interest payment on an Economic Development Administration loan. Wehre said the loan was for the purchase of Port Bienville property;

—Approved notary bonds for Joyce D. Lee, Margaret B. Hadden, C.A. Breath III and Delmar E. Wilcox; —Approved a three-acre residential 16th Section lease with Curtis and Ann Lee;

—Accepted a list of approximately 70 business insolvencies totalling some $4,800 in unpaid taxes for fiscal year 1979 presented by Tax Collector-Assessor Edward D. Murtagh Jr.;

—Accepted a $421 bid from Electrom, Inc. of New Orleans, as recommended by the County Fireman's Association Secretary Jay Marsh, for a police band radio for the Kila Fire Department;

—Accepted a $37,499 low bid from Gulf Construction Co. of Bay St. Louis for reconstruction of the Crane Creek bridge;

—Accepted a $5,574 single bid from Charlie Henderson Ford of Waveland for a District Four pickup truck;

—Authorized a letter be sent to the State Highway Department requesting Buccaneer State Park be listed on the official state map;

—Authorized a resolution to issue $250,000 in negotiable notes for a combined handicapped center and

BWYC sailors capture Lipton

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club sailors captured the prestigious Lipton Cup championship over the Labor Day weekend in Pensacola, Fla.

BWYC, by virtue of its victory this week, will host the 1981 Lipton Cup event next Labor Day weekend.

The Lipton Cup event is sanctioned by the Gulf Yachting Association and sailed in club-owned Flying Scots.

Bay Waveland went into the final race Monday with a strong lead following first place victories in each of the first three races Saturday and Sunday.

Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans took second place and Pass Christian Yacht Club was third.

Judy Reeves McKinney, present Adams Cup champion (U.S. Women's Open champion), got Bay-Waveland off to a good start Friday by completely dominating the fleet. She took the lead early and was never in jeopardy.

Sunday morning, Bubby Egan took over where McKinney left off. He won the race and crossed the finish line eight full minutes ahead of his nearest opponent.

Sunday afternoon, Mac Hadden also led the fleet all the way to give the Bay-Waveland club a big lead going into Monday's final round.

Mac Egan sailed the Monday race for BWYC and in a conservative performance to preserve the lead, took a third place finish to clinch the Cup.

Pass Christian picked up overall third place when Mike Pickich sailed to a second place finish on Monday. Ricky Adams of Pass Christian also helped the cause.

"This was a spectacular victory. The team's success in the first three races and placing third in the final race is the best average on record since the Lipton was begun in the 1920's," said BWYC Commodore Lucien Gex of Waveland.

Gex noted the weekend victory is considered the annual championship of the Gulf Yachting Association which is composed of 30 clubs on the United States Gulf Coast. Some 125 people from the Bay-Waveland area attended the three-day regatta in Pensacola. Gex reported on his return from the event Tuesday.

PARENTS PICKET SCHOOL—Mothers of fifth grade students were out in force picketing Gulfview Elementary School Tuesday. A spokesman for the group reported that they appeared before the Hancock County School Board voicing opposition to the board's decision of sending fifth graders to school at Clermont Harbor. The group said they would picket as long as necessary. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

OLA organizes Arts Council

Tuesday, September 2, at 2:15 p.m. the first meeting of the Our Lady's Academy Arts Council will be held in the cafeteria.

All Academy students and their parents are invited to attend.

This is an introductory meeting and will outline the plans and purposes of the Council.

There will be two meetings a month held during the school day. The first will be an organizational meeting and the second will feature guest performers with special talents.

There will be one out-of-school event per month consisting of art shows, stage productions, guest speakers, and other items of interest.

A point system will be used to encourage participation in the program.

Also, a $5 membership fee will apply to students. Parents will be asked to provide transportation.

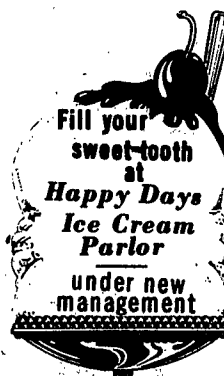

This arts council has been made possible, and is under the direction and sponsorship of Ms. Dee Chichon and Ms. Mary Lou Kock, instructors at The Academy.

Correction

In a recent issue it was reported that the Hancock County School District paid Howard Lizana $24,048 for painting work at Hancock North Central High School.

School Board President Woodrow Ladner said Lizana was actually paid $2,448 for the HNC painting job.

BUY OR SELL FIRST

Should you buy your new home or sell your present one first?

This situation arises consistently when families move up into a larger home in the same general area. In this case, it makes sense to sell the present home first.

The secret, however, is to sell the house under the conditions that the papers will pass and title will be conveyed in, say, 90 or 120 days. This way, you avoid the possibility of owning two homes at the same time.

True, it puts you in a position of being forced to buy another home, but this was your original intention anyway. With a concerted effort, one should be able to buy the right property in the 90 or 120 days allotted.

Also, you avoid the possibility of panic-selling your original home (a good way to lose money), plus you'll know exactly how much money will be available for a down payment on the new house.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Make Mammography Safer Than Ever

The magnitude of risk of developing breast cancer from an x-ray examination called mammography is reasonably small, even for younger women. In fact, the probability of a 35-year-old woman dying an accidental death is 13 to 25 times greater than the theoretical risk of mammography. If she smokes 1 1/2 packs of cigarettes a day for 30 years her chance of dying of lung cancer is 60 to 113 times greater. And, recent governmental statistics reveal the incidence of lung cancer among women has soared, threatening to match the death rate among men.

Mammography is a special x-ray study of the breast capable of detecting cancer as small as 5mm or less. The physicians who perform mammographic examinations are radiologists, medical specialists who use radiation to diagnose and to treat human disorders. These doctors point to the health statistics above when discussing benefits versus risks, and they contend that mammography is the most effective examination for women that will help to reduce the death rate from breast cancer.

A method to save the lives and improve the quality of the lives of women is to detect the disease in an early, localized, more curable stage. Earlier detection of cancers of all types appears to save lives—it may save yours by having your physician and radiologist working together to optimize your health care.

Physical examination by a doctor is not always effective in detecting early breast cancer, radiologists explain. The average breast cancer takes 7 years to grow big enough to feel. Mammography can detect carcinoma an average of two years earlier. If you wait to feel (palpate) the tumor, it has spread beyond the breast in 50% of women, these physicians point out. However, if you detect it by mammography before you feel it, it has spread beyond the breast in only 5%.

Many technological advances have been made in mammographic equipment, some in the last three or four years, making it a highly sophisticated technique. Also fast, reduced dose x-ray films are another reason why mammography is safer than ever.

It is known that radiation at high total levels and high dose rates can produce cancer after a long latent period. Radiologists emphasize, however, there is no evidence that low-dose, low-level radiation, such as that used in mammography today, can produce cancer in the exposed population. It is prudent to assume that the element of risk exists, but the risk of the individual patient for annual mammography is less than many risks of daily living.

When should women consider having a mammogram?

T.V. History In Making For Star Marlin Perkins

"I'm going on 20 to exactly how I feel this year," says Dr. Marlin Perkins as he gears up for the 1980/81 television season during which he will take a giant step toward 20 consecutive years of filming new episodes for "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom."

"At the end of the season, we will have filmed 249 episodes of the series," says Perkins, "and all for the same sponsor — Mutual of Omaha. I'm told we're making television history."

Top 10 History
T.V. history it is. No other half-hour syndicated television program still producing new episodes has managed to maintain its popularity for such a length of time. As of August 31, 1980, "Mutual of Omaha's Wild Kingdom" is in its 19th consecutive year on national television and according to the national rating services, the series continues to be among the Top 10 of all syndicated television programs in the heavily-viewed Weekend Pre-Prime and Prime Access time periods (6:00-8:00 PM EST, Sat. & Sun. and 7:30 PM EST, Mon.-Fri.).

More New Episodes
"It's been a lot of work, a lot of fun, and worth every minute of it," says Perkins. "This year our world-wide travels will include a visit to Kenya to study the predators living and hunting there in the episode 'Hunters of the Mili Mili' and for a look at Africa's most feared and magnificent animal in the episode we call 'Lions of Music are March'. We'll also come home for awhile to spend some time in Minnesota for a close-up view of the 'Sleeping Bear of Keweenaw', and travel to Wyoming 'Where the Deer and Antelope Roam'. And we visit the 'Bobcats of Zion Canyon' when we travel to the breathtaking Zion Canyon in Utah for a close look at the family life of one of America's most interesting predators. "We'll revisit the Isles of Enchantment off the coast of Ecuador for the two-part episode 'Return to the Galapagos', and we'll be in Brazil for one of our most exciting programs ever which we call 'Buffalo Roundup in Brazil'."

76 Going on 20
At 76, Marlin Perkins is making television history by doing what he loves best: traveling the world in search of new stories to tell to his millions of television fans each week — 52 weeks a year.

Book Review

BY KATY AND RONNY CAIRE.

PERILOUS PASSAGE, By Bruce Nicolaysen, 1978.

To appreciate fully this fast-moving novel, the reader needs to know something of the history, traditions and folklore of the Basque, the fiercely independent people who occupy the mountains between France and Spain. Basque folklore insists that these people are not descended from any of the common European tribe, but that they are one of the lost tribes of Israel, direct descendants of Noah.

The mountains they occupy are so formidable that the Basque have never been defeated by any enemy, including Napoleon and Hitler. When threatened, they simply retreat into their barren mountain land, and defy any outsider to penetrate their isolation successfully.

The Basque are successful as shepherders in the western United States because isolation does not bother a Basque as it does other segments of the population. The Basque language is probably the most difficult language in modern Europe to learn, and it is principally passed down from generation to generation by word of mouth.

The hero of Perilous Passage is a Basque who has retreated to his mountain pasture with only dogs and sheep for companions after the death of his wife.

He agrees to guide Jewish refugees from the Nazi oppressors across the mountains for a price, the money paid by the French underground.

He is staggered to learn that he is expected to guide a frail Jewish scholar, his overweight wife, his crippled son, and his teen-age daughter across the mountains in the middle of winter with the Nazi SS troops in full pursuit.

Gradually the Basque thaws from his commercial attitude as he learns the love that members of this family have for each other and the sacrifices they will make for each other.

As the climax is reached, the Basque has finally joined the rest of the human race, abandoning his voluntary isolation from world.

THE CRADLE WILL FALL by Mary Higgins Clark, Simon & Schuster, 1980

This engrossing masterpiece of suspense holds the reader's interest from start to the very last word.

It opens with a young woman, Katie deMaio, looking out the window of her hospital room and trying to convince herself that she is not really seeing what is going on, that instead she is in the throes of a nightmare.

Under her window she sees a man heave a body into the trunk of a car. As he does so, the blanket slips, and Katie sees the face of her young, pregnant neighbor, Vangie

Lewis.

When Katie recovers and returns to her job as county prosecutor, she finds that her nightmare was real, and that Vangie is dead.

The police suspect foul play, and Katie leads the investigation.

The trail leads to the Westlake Maternity Concept, where gynecologist Edgar Highley treated and "cured" infertile women such as Vangie.

He is regarded as a miracle worker by some, but as a monster by fellow doctors. At any rate, something strange is going on at Westlake, though police have no concrete evidence. With Katie herself scheduled for surgery in two days with the controversial doctor, she must fight not only for the truth, but for her life. We'll tell you no more, read it and find out how Katie accomplishes this.

Fall brings football

Suddenly it is Fall, well it is almost here because the pig skin begins to tumble and fumble around this weekend at area schools.

The Tigers, Hawks and Pirates all will see action at home Friday night with the Rock-A-Chaws journeying to New Orleans for a Saturday contest.

As we have encouraged in previous years, we again urge your support of the favorite team of your choice.

Many hours of work have gone into practice by the many young men who will be chasing the pig skin around the field. Remember this, it was a very hot, hot, pre-season practice.

Your support is needed at these games, to show your appreciation of the dedication and hard work of the players.

Tiger Coach Snuffy Smith, Hawk Coach Irvin Farve, Rock-A-Chaw Coach Barry Jones, and Pirate Coach Bob Lumpkin are all looking forward to seeing the bleachers filled to capacity for each home contest.

See you at the games.

Bits 'n pieces

The bug invasion of the areas of Bay St. Louis and Waveland near the vicinity of the oxidation pond is something else.

We have seen them in past several years, but the last few days they have been worse than ever.

When a person is unable to walk in his yard, or street in front of his residence right before dark because the creatures get into their eyes, noses, mouth and make it almost impossible to breathe, it looks like some officials will try and do something.

Where they are coming from really is not known, but, since we were raised in the area near the oxidation pond, we can never recall seeing the creatures.

We have hunted, frogged and fished in the 'sand pit' as kids before the oxidation pond was constructed and never recalled anything like the swarming insects.

Residents of the area claim the oxidation pond is the breeding ground for the mosquito-like creatures. They are probably correct because we have searched Bay St. Louis and Waveland during the past few nights and they are visible within several blocks of the oxidation pond.

One theory we heard, is they possibly could have been caused by NASA and some of their experiments at the test site in the early years, but, this is of course just a guess.

One thing is for sure, unless some officials do something, other than just talk, the mystery will never be found out.

President Carter has been known to, as the old saying goes, put his 'foot' into his mouth on several occasions.

It seems that Republican nominee Ronald Reagan is following suit with his remarks last week.

Most people just shake it off and say, 'Well, it is politics'.

We were sure glad to see the Bay St. Louis workmen cleaning up the sidewalk next to the Hancock County Courthouse early Tuesday morning.

Many of the area users of the sidewalk all stated they are now happy they do not have to use the street to pass the area. It is a job well done.

We hope you had a wonderful Labor Day weekend.

Many folks enjoyed the many recreations we have to offer in our County such as fishing, picnicking, swimming, boating, fishing and just plain loafing.

We managed to do a little fishing and the traffic was brisk in the Pearl River area. Too bad the fishing wasn't as good as the traffic.

UNIDENTIFIED BUGS—Residents near the Bay St. Louis oxidation pond have to run for cover each evening when a mysterious invasion of flying bugs arrive. The photo above was taken late Sunday evening and the reflections from the flash can be seen from those near the lens. Residents are complaining about the situation and are concerned because no one seems interested in their problem of not being able to walk the streets in late evenings.

'Hold your breath and run fast' to escape insect swarms

Sea Coast Echo,
Dear Editor,

We, the people of Longo Street in Waveland, are being invaded by unidentified flying insects.

They come out in swarms just before dark and utterly engulf this entire area.

You have to hold your breath and run fast into your home before they smother you.

They attack your eyes, nose and mouth.

They swarm around for about two hours and then settle down in the grass and on our windows and doors until morning.

These insects are breeding in Bay St. Louis' oxidation pond.

Some hospital patients are best handled with patience

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,
Saturday at 11:30 p.m. I rushed my husband, a heart patient, to Hancock General.

Nurse Jo Thornton and Dr. Fazio treated him immediately. While he was being attended to, a couple and their son came to emergency.

The boy had been fishing in the waters where they had the PCP spill. His parents said he had a rash, fever, and vomiting. Nurse Thornton went in and made the boy comfortable, and said she would be with them shortly.

Within minutes the father began to rant and rave he wanted a doctor.

Nurse Thornton went to the treatment room and explained that they were with a heart patient and she would be there as soon as possible.

This man verbally abused this nurse. If I were capable I would have hit him over the head with something. Nurse

It is bad enough that we have to contend with the sickening odor that comes from this pond, without being invaded by these insects.

We have repeatedly reported this to proper authorities and nothing is being done.

This pond should not have been built in this location. It is situated in the middle of a residential area, and is not properly kept up.

It needs to be and should have been condemned years ago.

We hope that someone with authority and concern for his fellowman will read this letter and come to our rescue.

Sincerely yours,
Dorris Harvill

Minister gives Caire 'what for' on language usage

August 21, 1980
Mr. Ronny Caire
c/o Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Mr. Caire:

Having just now read your article entitled, "Camille scars fading in Pass Christian after eleven years," my mind began to consider your phrase "...generally played hell with the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

I don't truly think, from your use of the phrase, that you fully understand the phrase that you chose to place into print.

Our word (English) for Hell in Hebrew indicates a world unseen. The same is true of the Greek New Testament's translation of the word Hades.

In all other New Testament passages where Hell is used, it is translated from the Greek Gehenna which derives its origin from the Valley of Hinnom which was used as a modern day garbage dump located Southwest of Jerusalem.

By this I'm sure that you can see that Hell is a very specific place in history just as is Dallas, San Francisco or Bay St. Louis. A hurricane cannot play Hell any more than it can play Dallas or San Francisco. This, however, was not my intent for writing this letter.

Americans regard many things as 'commonplace' in life because in slang, they have become a great part of our vocabulary. I'm sure with your journalism training and experience you can think of many more examples of this than I can.

My request of you is simply this. When choosing descriptive words with biblical overtones, consider the fact that while they may not be directly offensive to most, (myself-included), a word such as 'havoc' may have been a better choice.

The word hell has been greatly overused and misused and I, for one, would like to see it used as it was intended.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration. If there is any way that I may ever be of service to you, please feel free to call. I am

Sincerely yours,
Bob Pendleton

Victim humiliated in court, questions justice system

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Dear Sir:

The law to punish the guilty and protect the innocent in domestic situations has become quite lax over a period of years.

Why is it that the victim is being punished not only by the attacker but the courts?

Whatever happened to the word justice and protection of one's body, feelings and rights.

In the court of law, in some cases, the victim is being humiliated and demoralized more so than by the attack.

A warning is given instead of a stronger punishment like a jail sentence. The criminal is walking the streets free to commit the very same crime and maybe even more serious ones, while the victim is still trying to forget the ordeal he or she has gone through.

Is a warning strong enough to keep the criminal from striking twice? When this is brought to the courts' attention, the ordeal begins again for the victim.

Must we live in fear? Can we depend on protection from the law?

When we say the only justice would be to take the law into our own hands, form a one-man vigilante and protect our bodies, rights and property, we are warned by the courts and sometimes charged with contempt.

Do we live with these in mind? If this is justice, I want no part of it.

Respectfully yours,
Lucy Randall

Reader feels visitors cause two-thirds of city's litter

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to the Mayor's question of what can be done about the litter?

The answer is very simple! Why not enforce the litter law on the out-of-towners (tourists?), "weekend warriors," etc.

They are responsible for at least two-thirds of the litter.

Just look at the beaches and Highway 90 medians on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon, or at some of the plastic garbage bags in front of cottages on Sunday, when the garbage pick-up is Tuesday.

Those bags are ripped to pieces by Tuesday.

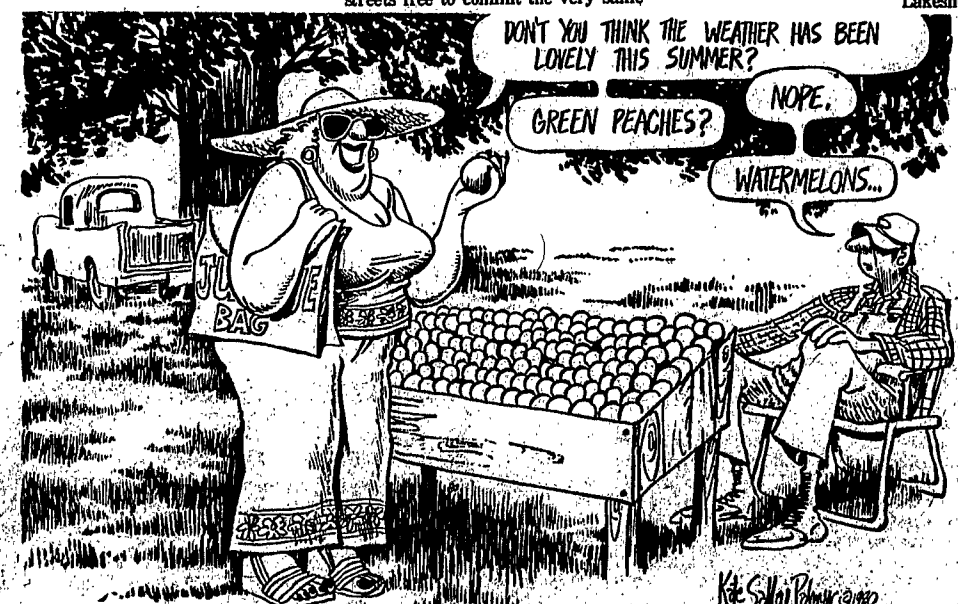

I know that the tourist is the "Sacred Cow" of the city, but most of the tourists that would be ticketed will have bought his food, gas, and refreshments in an adjoining state, bringing only his litter for our beaches and roadways.

I resent the Mayor blaming local citizens for the litter problem. We are not all to be blamed, just like all politicians are not incompetent.

I hope the citizens remember this when voting in the next election. I also hope this "city hall" directed newspaper prints this, but it won't print criticism of government, I know because I've tried twice

Harvest Queen pageant slated

The fifth annual Harvest Queen Pageant will be held Saturday, September 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville.

The pageant is open to any young lady in this area between the ages of 3 and 18 years and single.

Divisions are Tiny Miss Harvest Queen, ages 3 to 6 years; Little Miss Harvest Queen, ages 7 to 10 years; Junior Miss Harvest Queen, ages 11 to 14 years and Miss Harvest Queen, ages 15 to 18 years.

Trophies, crowns and banners will be awarded. No talent routines are required. Contestants are to model Fall or Winter Sportswear only and will be judged on poise, personality and overall appearance.

Entry deadline is September 20 and forms may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Tom Sones, Rt. 3, Box 341, Poplarville, MS, 39470 or by calling (601) 798-7183 or 798-5691.

If there is one vegetable that's identified with the South, I think it has to be okra - though, now that I think again - how can I forget the yam, the South's own sweet potato, and so on?

At any rate, okra is one of my favorite "everything's." I use it as an appetizer, a salad, a main dish, and also as an incidental, but oh-so-important ingredient in many dishes, from gumbo to that special Southern treat, "smothered" okra, in which okra, tomatoes and green peppers, well seasoned, are cooked over low heat in a heavy, covered skillet . . . to, well, whatever suits my mood.

'Tis said that okra was brought by slaves in the ships that transported them from the Congo to the West Indies and America, hidden in their ears.

We're enjoying a special treat with fresh out of Bertha Blake's garden, an "Emerald" strain she said, non-ropy and tender.

Some of this okra I simply steamed, and served with melted butter. And, of course, I couldn't resist my favorite, French Fried Okra.

This, with its surprising almost "oyster" taste is not only good as a vegetable, but also a delightful addition to the hors d'oeuvre tray.

FRENCH FRIED OKRA

Just slice the okra crosswise in thin sections, dredge it in seasoned cornmeal or flour (Salt, pepper, a dash of hot pepper sauce) and fry in deep, hot fat. Drain well on paper toweling.

You can do this ahead of time, if you wish, and crisp it in the oven for later serving, but we like it best hot from the skillet.

TAXATION BY REGULATION

Much of the shadow boxing taking place in millions of American households these days as typical families seek to balance family budgets is a result of a phantom but very real enemy in the form of taxation by regulation.

It is hard to strike a real blow at this rival for earnings because he is here, you and everywhere.

In a speech to farm leaders in Chicago recently however, Alan Reynolds, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, held this grim specter in perspective long enough to issue a warning that Americans today are paying a huge unlegislated tax imposed by regulatory agencies.

Reynolds pointed out that today there are some 87 federal regulatory agencies with about two dozen of them created since 1970. These agencies employ over 100,000 people, and their runaway expansion can be gauged by the fact that the FEDERAL REGISTER, the book of federal regulations, has tripled in size since 1970 — from 20,000 to 65,600 pages.

The percentage of the nation's population segment subject to comprehensive federal regulation has grown from seven to 30 percent. And in recent years the agencies dealing with safety, health, and environmental matters have grown to encompass virtually every economic and many social activities.

The cost of regulation is widespread, sapping costs from many angles.

First, there is the obvious direct cost burden on taxpayers for the administrative expenses incurred by the growing agencies themselves. The 27 largest regulatory agencies already have escalated their budgets from $1.6 billion in 1970 to $7 billion in 1977.

The regulatory activities of USDA alone will cost taxpayers $830 million next year for an increase of 164 percent in five years.

A second cost of regulation is the paperwork burden on business. The cost of filling out about 4,400 forms is no small item in terms of employee wages and printing expenses. The Commission on Federal Paperwork estimated the cost of filling out federal forms as up to $32 billion for private industry and $350 more for agriculture.

But the biggest cost is that of compliance to regulations. The Commerce Department figures show that pollution control expenditures alone cost business and consumers $22 billion in 1976. One effort to cover the entire field of regulatory compliance cost by Robert DeFina of Washington University resulted in a probably $82 billion cost estimate for 1976. Calculations by the Ford Administration were twice that large. Since then, inflation and growth of regulations have made the cost today probably in the $100 billion range annually.

A more subtle burden is created by risks involved in regulations. By this it is meant the danger to a long-term investment project that is legal and profitable when undertaken but which may be rendered illegal or uneconomic by a change in regulations.

Whimsical, erratic changes in the basic rules of the game thus have a paralyzing effect on long-term investments — a problem compounded by regulators' apparent personal stance to be overly cautious.

Red tape has a way of snarling productivity. The Commerce Department has published a study showing recent changes in just two types of regulation — environmental and occupational safety — have reduced the growth of productivity by a third of a percentage point. Since productivity has been rising only by about 1 1/2 percent a year over the past decade, a third of a point loss created by only these two agencies is significant.

One answer to the problem is to make government agencies accountable for the costs they impose on consumers.

Mississippi Senator Thad Cochran has suggested that the agencies might be cut off at the pass and harassed if Congress itself requires cost impact studies to accompany future legislation. That suggestion appears to have considerable merit.

Livestock Slaughter

Livestock slaughter during July totaled 189,800 head, weighing 54,565,000 pounds liveweight, the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service announced today.

This is 18,200 head and 4,652,000 pounds more than the same month last year. The July slaughter consisted of 15,100 cattle weighing 13,884,000 pounds liveweight; 1,400 calves weighing 763,000 pounds liveweight; 173,300 hogs weighing 39,918,000 pounds liveweight.

The average liveweight per head of animals slaughtered was: Cattle 918, calves 553, and hogs 230 pounds.

Commercial production of red meat totaled 35,268,000 pounds during July, 2 percent below June but 9 percent above July 1979. The January-July 1980 red meat production totaled 257,418,000, 20 percent above 1979.

UNITED STATES
Commercial red meat production for the United States in July 1980 totaled 3.07 billion pounds, up 4 percent from July 1979, according to the Crop Reporting Board. January-July red meat production at 22.3 billion pounds was 6 percent above last year.

The 1980 accumulated production changes by individual components were: Beef, down less than 1 percent; veal, down 14 percent; pork, up 15 percent; lamb and mutton, up 9 percent. Commercial red meat production includes slaughter in Federally inspected and other plants, but excludes animals slaughtered on farms.

Kill days for July included 23 weekdays (one a holiday) and 4 Saturdays, compared with 22 weekdays (one a holiday) and 4 Saturdays for July 1979.

COMPARING JULY 1980 WITH JULY 1979:
BEEF PRODUCTION at 1.78 billion pounds was up 6 percent. Head kill at 2.83 million was up 6 percent and average liveweight increased 5 pounds to 1,059.

VEAL PRODUCTION at 31 million pounds was down 9 percent. Calf slaughter at 211 thousand head was down 3 percent, and average liveweight decreased 14 pounds to 247.

PORK PRODUCTION totaled 1.23 billion pounds, up 1 percent. The 7.21 million head killed was up 3 percent, and was a record kill for the month of July, surpassing the previous record high last year. The average liveweight of hogs was 241 pounds, down 5 pounds from last year. Preliminary lard production was 65 million pounds, unchanged from last year.

Now Nonsmoking is Glamorous

In the old days, some women thought smoking was sophisticated. "Now, like me, they know that's silly," says Kim Torres, a recent Miss USA, who is one of the Christmas Seal people of the American Lung Association. "Smoking is a threat to our lungs and lives."

September birthstone ranks with rubies and diamonds

By JOE PILET

Over the centuries discriminating people of all nations have appreciated precious gems.

The sapphire, selected as the birth stone for those born in September was the choice gem to be worn on Wednesdays when Thoth, the Egyptian God of Wisdom, selected stones to be worn each day of the week.

He decreed that only yellow gems and gold be worn on Sunday.

On Monday, pearls and white stones other than diamonds were his choice, honoring the day of the moon.

Tuesday was for rubies and Wednesday, the day to reflect the blue of the heavens with the sapphire.

Thursday, the day of Thoth, demanded an amethyst.

Friday, the day of Venus, was symbolized by the emerald.

Only on Saturday should the Queen of gems, the diamond, be worn.

Later, in Roman times, other legends came into being about the magical qualities of gems.

Our modern custom of wearing a birth stone for the month is traditional.

No doubt Thoth had in mind the blue sapphire, however, the sapphire may be pure white or a variety of colors referred to as "fancy sapphires."

There are yellow sapphires, sometimes known as Oriental topaz; green sapphires, called Oriental emeralds; purple, pink, greenish-blue and almost black stones are common among sapphires. And, of course, the lovely star sapphire is much to be admired.

Chemically, the ruby and the sapphire are of exactly the same material.

The color determines whether they are called ruby (red), or sapphire (blue and other colors).

All these stones are corundum which is an oxide of aluminum.

Gems are priced according to perfection, size, cut, and color.

Cashmere, India, produces the best sapphires.

Montana supplies sapphires used for industrial purposes.

Most "fancy sapphires" come from Ceylon or Australia.

Thailand produces sapphires.

Bankok jewelry stores are large and exceedingly well stocked.

When purchasing a sapphire it is advisable to examine it under natural light, since artificial lights tend to give the stones a lavender tint.

Synthetic stones have been wonderfully perfected and are frequently mistaken for "the real" — see when in Burma or Ceylon buy with care.

Native mounted stones are said to frequently be synthetic.

Happy Birthday all you lucky September Borns.

Wear your birthstone with pride. It's an expensive and uncommonly beautiful gem, ranking in value with rubies and diamonds.

Fonda after Coming Home and to know in your closet how brilliant you were." With the determination Ali projects, she'll claim that for herself someday.

"I'm tired of it," declares Bruce Dern, referring to his recent run of deranged roles, including two disturbed Viet vets in Black Sunday and Coming Home. "They won't let up — they just don't think I'm funny, amusing and quick," he complains. But in Smile, (an HBO comedy feature this month) his gloomy image brightens. Can you picture Dern as Big Bob Freeland, a mobile home dealer and beauty pageant judge? The dynamic actor proves there's a comic side to his talent.

Ole Miss Medical Center approves research

Four University of Mississippi Medical Center research projects have been approved for funding by the UMC cancer research advisory committee. The awards of $2,500 each come from an institutional grant to the Medical Center from the American Cancer Society, Inc. (ACS).

Each grant provides start-up dollars to help UMC scientists gather data to justify a larger grant for more extensive research.

Two of the projects are test-tube studies of cancer cells; one looks at human brain tumor cells grown in mice; and the other is an investigation into the character of an enzyme linked to rapid cell growth.

Dr. Karen Houston, director of the UMC oncology lab, and Dr. Ralph Vance, assistant professor of medicine, will grow breast tumor cells in the laboratory and test the cells' response to two hormones.

If it could be determined from the test tube that a patient's tumor would respond to hormone therapy alone, physicians could save patients weeks of treatment with chemotherapy.

Associate professor of neurosurgery Dr. John Kapp hopes his research will add to the now meager arsenal of weapons against brain tumors. He will first grow human brain tumor cells in a test tube, then start them growing in mice.

The animals will be given one of three chemotherapy agents, one in common use now and the other two experimental drugs.

One the eighth day after the animals have received the tumor cells, the tumors will be removed and analyzed. The investigator will measure the percentage of tumor killed by the drugs.

While Dr. Kapp, Dr. Houston and Dr. Vance are looking at the effects on anti-cancer agents on tumors, Dr. Rathi Iyer's search will be for patterns of change in cultured leukemia cells which could help predict and suggest kinds of therapy for acute nonlymphocytic leukemia in children.

An assistant professor of pediatrics, Dr. Iyer says only 15 percent of the acute leukemias in children are nonlymphocytic, and the prognosis for this type of leukemia is much dimmer than it is for children with lymphocytic leukemia which generally responds well to chemotherapy.

Assistant professor of biochemistry Dr. Charles Woodley will use his grant to begin a study of an enzyme which appears to have a link to rapid cell growth one of the chief characteristics of tumor cells.

It's far too early to ascribe a cause and effect relationship between the enzyme and unrestrained cell growth, Dr. Woodley says, but where rapid growth has been observed the enzyme is present in large quantities.

The ACS began awarding institutional grants three years ago as a more flexible and less cumbersome means of funding new ideas for research. The grants are competitive, and recipient institutions are selected on the basis of demonstrated capability.

Individual Medical Center scientists applied directly to the UMC cancer research advisory committee for the awards. The ACS research grants are made possible through donations to state affiliates like the Mississippi Division of the American Society.

Delinquent utility accounts released to local attorneys

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis Council authorized City Clerk Kelly McQueen to turn over delinquent utility accounts to a collection agency Tuesday night.

McQueen had contacted Henry Cook, local attorney, regarding the delinquent accounts receivables in the utility department.

A total over $38,000 is over 90 days due, according to McQueen. The delinquent accounts are reportedly turned off, McQueen said, according to city hall records.

The proposal by Cook is for his firm of Cook and Tucker to receive 30 percent of the amount collected plus court costs of courts which run about $25 on a settlement of a bill of less than $500. A slightly higher court cost is involved on bills collected over $500.

Council was unanimous in hiring Cook's firm. He must submit the proposal in writing as agreed with McQueen.

In other business, Joe Brown III, representative of Brown Engineers, Inc., reported the 1979 Small Cities Project is coming along very well.

Brown's report said, "By the first of next week, contractor's activities will be devoted to the restoration of the roads and other damaged facilities, completion of the pump station and cleanup."

The work involves the upgrading of sewer and water systems in the 500 blocks of Main, St. John, State and deMontluzin.

Brown was authorized to prepare a Utilities Assessment Report and for it to be completed after the City receives an audit under way by the firm of Moore and Powell.

Council approved several appointments to various boards recommended by Mayor Larry Bennett.

J. Cyril Glover, longtime Commissioner of Bay St. Louis was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ms. Lydia Schultz on the board of adjustments.

Mrs. Marion Cook was appointed to a full term on the board of adjustments.

W.W. Wehre and Dan Fredericks were appointed for another term on the Planning and Zoning Board.

Barbay Engineers had been requested to do an updating of the utilities assessments and they had replied to Kelly McQueen, clerk, that it would be better to wait until January, 1981 until the rates were in effect one year.

McQueen also reported he had received the grant for the installation of the wind mills for the various locations on public buildings in the city.

Charles Hirstius, representative for Spanish Acres Subdivision Association, said he was still "beating the same old horse."

In response to Hirstius' request for the status on the Webb Street dump, he was answered by McQueen who told him that a State Board of Health man was to meet with officials within the next two days on the situation.

The spokesman for Spanish Acres then mentioned that nothing had been done on the sewer break on Elena Court which was reported six weeks ago.

Joseph Gex, board attorney, told Hirstius that he had been in contact with the Hirstius family and they were interested in providing a secondary exit and playground. They are to advise Gex in writing about their offer.

Hirstius mentioned that he did not notice any progress on ditch cleaning in the subdivision.

Gex mentioned that he had been in court Tuesday in a case against City Attorney Joseph Benvenuti as to whether he could try a certain case.

Gex said, "Judge Ruble Griffin had ruled in favor of the City that Benvenuti had the authority to try the case."

Council member James Thrifflie asked for the formation of an architectural committee for Bay St. Louis.

Thrifflie stated, "The committee would be similar to one in the New Orleans Vieux Carre and would involve downtown Bay St. Louis."

It was agreed that an interim committee would be selected, possibly at the Council's next meeting.

The meeting was recessed until Friday at 5 p.m.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to keep you informed about cancer.

Question: "My father-in-law died of cancer of the colon ten years ago, and my husband is worried he might get the same disease. Is this type of cancer hereditary?"

ANSWERline: No, but colorectal cancer is one of a group of common cancers that can occur among several members of the same family. This "familial tendency" toward colorectal cancer means that your husband is in a high risk group and has a slightly greater than average chance of developing the disease.

Although it is unlikely that your husband will actually get colorectal cancer, it is very important for him to have regular checkups. He should also have any special test recommended by his physician, such as the "procto" (proctosigmoidoscopy) which can detect nearly two-thirds of all colorectal cancer, or the guaiac test, which is useful for detecting hidden blood in the stool. This in itself does not mean that cancer is present, but it often uncovers precancerous problems which, when taken care of, lessen the chances that cancer might start.

Early diagnosis is especially important because approximately two out of three patients with colorectal cancer could be saved if the disease is found in its early stages and treated promptly.

Question: "Are cancer doctors giving any thought to using heroin and marijuana for their patients? I seem to remember reading somewhere these substances could control pain?"

ANSWERline: You are right — there have been scattered reports in the press that the substances you mention might help ease pain. And cancer specialists have long been concerned to find products that could help control the discomfort and pain suffered by some patients with advanced cancer. There are a number of substances and procedures already available that can provide relief but none remedy is without its drawbacks. In February 1980, therefore, at the National Board of Directors meeting of the American Cancer Society.

Cedar Point measuring, listing nears completion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The county assessor-tax collector's staff will soon complete measuring and listing most homes in the Cedar Point area of Bay St. Louis.

"We have measured and listed well over 500 homes in the Cedar Point area," Assessor-Tax Collector Edward D. Murtagh Jr. told the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning.

"About six weeks ago the state checked our work and they said it wasn't up to snuff, but two weeks ago they came back and said our work couldn't be better," Murtagh reported.

Phase One of the local reappraisal program is listing and measuring all platted subdivisions in the county.

However, Murtagh said Tuesday afternoon unplatted subdivisions would also be measured in Phase One to avoid backtracking by his staff.

"Platted areas are derived from acreage and a map of those areas are filed with the board of supervisors," the assessor stated.

"These maps are good, but there are some discrepancies," he added.

Murtagh reported after the Cedar Point area is completed his staff will move into Ward Two.

The supervisors Tuesday amended Murtagh's 1980 budget and allocated an additional $4,036 for Phase One expenses.

The assessor also informed the board his office would be able to assess personal property for less than $6,000 which he explained would "save the county $12,000."

Murtagh said a professional firm would charge $20 per parcel in evaluate personal property.

Murtagh stated Tuesday, "The main idea in our program is to save the county money and to keep our citizens informed of our progress."

"All of our citizens will have a chance to review our work. We're not just going to slap this on our people," he said.

"I'm acting as a liaison between my staff and our citizens," Murtagh added.

The only major difficulty Murtagh has encountered is in hiring a qualified mapper.

"We are trying to locate someone in the mapping field with mapping and reappraisal experience," the assessor explained.

"These people are hard to find since all the other counties are grabbing up mappers," he added.

Murtagh, Deputy Assessor Yvonne Ladner and staff member Lou Wilkerson Thursday are attending a Mississippi Economic Council-sponsored forum on reappraisal at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel in Biloxi.

The Biloxi meeting is one of six similar forums being sponsored by MEC around the state this week.

The Supreme Court's decision to uphold a Hinds County Chancery Court decision mandating statewide property reappraisal now guarantees justice and equality in property taxation for all Mississippians according to the Mississippi Economic Council.

"MEC has long emphasized that the method of assessing property for ad valorem taxes is the most serious weakness in the state's tax structure," said MEC President Bob Pittman of Jackson. "This decision will now guarantee that all Mississippians will be fairly treated in the payment of property taxes."

The Supreme Court today affirmed the lower court's decision that all property must be taxed at a uniform and equal rate throughout the state and set a 1983 deadline for reappraisal.

"The Mississippi Economic Council now urges all state and local officials involved in tax procedures to begin work toward implementing reappraisal and equalization," said Pittman. "And in order to aid local governments, MEC is holding a series of property tax forums in six key geographical areas of the state the first week in September."

Pittman explained that the forums — about 90 minutes each — are open to the public. They are designed to provide a forum for discussion on the new voluntary property tax bill passed by the 1980 Legislature, what this decision means, and how they will be interpreted and implemented by the State Tax Commission.

The meetings will include remarks by Lt. Gov. Brad Dye and an analysis of the property tax bill by members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee. Representatives of the State Commission will discuss that agency's interpretation and implementation of the bill.

BEATIN' THE HEAT — Patty and Bob Eden of Pass Christian head for the watery splashdown at the end of the "Logger's Log Flume" at Silver Dollar City in Pigeon Forge, Tenn. The Log Flume is now part of the new "Fun Country" rides area. With the addition of "Fun Country," Silver Dollar City is now a major family theme park. Silver Dollar City is located near Gatlinburg and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park.

MISSISSIPPI MARKET NEWS

MISSISSIPPI

During the survey week of July 6-12, 1980, there were 88,000 workers on Mississippi farms. Farm operators working one hour or more plus unpaid family members working 15 hours or more totaled 43,000 and hired workers numbered 45,000. A year earlier there were 32,000 family workers and 34,000 hired workers.

All family workers averaged 26.4 hours of work during the survey week compared to 35.0 hours last year. Farm operators worked 24.3 hours and unpaid family members 35.6 hours. Hired workers worked 35.6 hours, up from the 32.5 hours worked last year.

Wage rates for all hired farm workers averaged $3.25 per hour. This is 11-cents greater than last July. The average per hour wage rate for those workers receiving only cash wages was $3.15.

UNITED STATES
Employment on United States farms during the survey week of July 6-12, 1980, was estimated at 4.54 million workers, 2 percent less than July of last year. Working farm operators and unpaid family members working 15 hours or more numbered 2.75 million, 3 percent under a year ago. Hired labor totaled 1.79 million, a reduction of 1 percent from the previous July.

All family members worked an average of 40.4 hours during the survey week this July, down slightly from 41.6 hours during the comparable period last year. Farm operators worked an average of 40.4 hours compared to 43.0 hours last year. Hired workers on farms averaged 38.0 hours during the survey week this year, up from 36.8 hours a year earlier.

Farm wage rates, for all methods of pay, converted to an hourly rate, averaged $3.52 during the week of July 6-12, 1980, an increase of 29 cents from the $3.23 per hour paid a year ago.

Hourly workers receiving only cash wages averaged $3.52 compared with $3.30 a year earlier. Field workers received an average of $3.36 compared with $3.05 a year ago. Livestock workers received an average of $3.22, up 23 cents from the $2.99 per hour for the July 1979 survey week.

Approximately 45 percent of the hired workers on farms during the July 1980 survey week received perquisites, such as room and board or meals, in addition to cash wages. This is the same percentage relationship shown during the comparable survey period last year. The most common benefit was housing, which was received by 17 percent of the workers.

Three home contests kickoff prep football season Friday

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The 1980 football season will be underway for local high school teams this weekend. Bay High will open at home Friday with kick-off at 7:30 p.m. against arch rival Stone County at Tiger Stadium.

The Tigers, under the direction of head mentor James (Snuffy) Smith, will be trying to better a record of 4-6 in 1979.

The record for the Tigers was the best season in years with Smith at the helm for his first time as head coach of a high school team.

Coach Smith will depend heavily upon returning lettermen from the 1979 squad from which he lost 20 members.

Hancock North Central originally was scheduled to vie with Our Lady of Victories in the opening of the 1980 season. OLV was unable to muster a team and the contest was canceled.

Irvin Favre's Hawks instead will open the 1980 football season against new competition in McLain High School. McLain was a last minute substitute for Our Lady of Victories game.

McLain, located above Hattiesburg, will visit North Central at the Hawk stadium for a 7:30 p.m. kick-off Friday.

Veteran head coach Favre has been working his team hard to pickup the Hawks winning ways they displayed in the Wendell Ladner Memorial bowl to close the 1979 season.

bowl to close the 1979 season. The Hawks have an experienced quarterback with a number of returning lettermen on both offense and defense.

Favre hopes to have corrected the plague of penalties in key situations from last season.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chows will open their season with a contest in New Orleans on Saturday night.

Coach Barry Jones' Rocks will tangle with Riverdale, a new Stanislaus opponent.

Stanislaus, like last season, has over a 50-member squad and will play one of its toughest schedules, according to Jones.

A weapon the Rocks will depend upon this season will be the talented toe of Juan Betanzos, who is capable of kicking 60 yard field goals, according to Coach Jones.

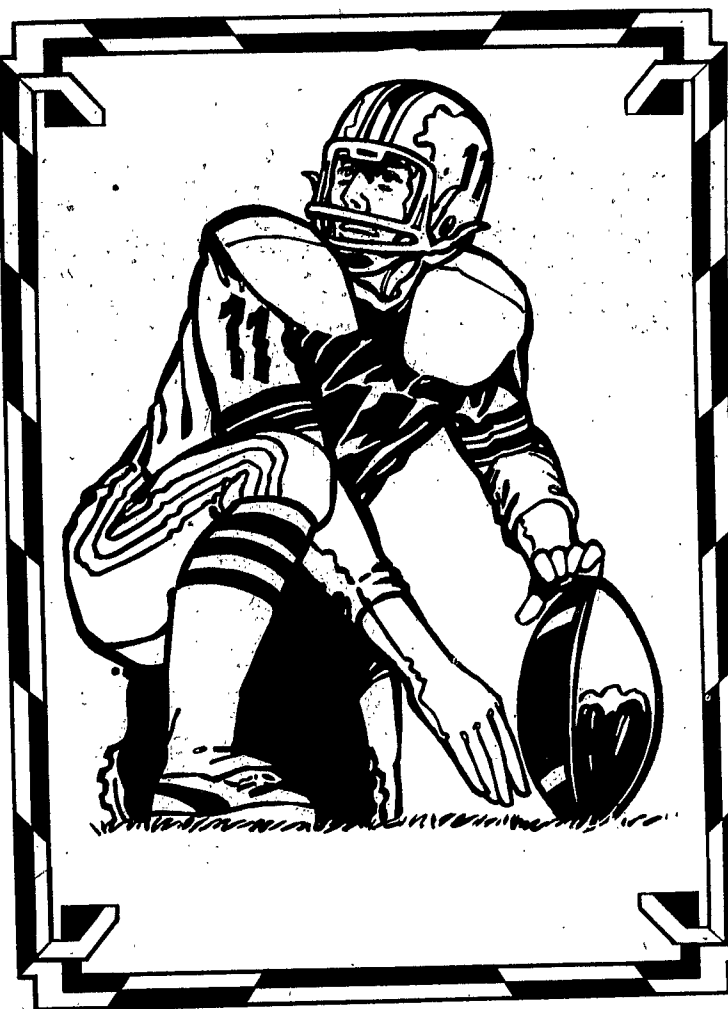

Stanislaus will be fielding a new offensive backfield to go along with a solid defensive unit with nine returning lettermen from the 1979 team.

The Pass Christian Pirates open against strong finisher Vancleave in the Pascagoula River Conference last season Friday at the Pirates den.

Coach Bob Lumpkin's Pirates plan on going all out this season with two of the top rated teams in the conference back-to-back for openers this season.

"The Pirate mentor" will be looking for a replacement for the fine running back Gene Lang, a freshman at LSU, a standout for the Pass team in 1979.

All four coaches placed emphasis on the fact that fan support will play an important role in their squads' performances.

WILDCAT COACHES — J. C. Arban, right, head coach of the Pearl River Wildcats and his assistants, Herbert Morris, left, and David Earl Johnson, will be leading the Wildcats when they travel to Moorhead, Thursday to take on the Mississippi Delta Trojans. The Wildcats' first home encounter is set for Saturday, Sept. 13 against Jones.

Wildcats debut tonight against Delta Trojans

Pearl River Junior College's Wildcats open their 1980, 10-game football schedule tonight against the Mississippi Delta Trojans in Moorhead.

"We're ready to get on with it," said Coach J.C. Arban, "we've done about all we can do to practice. At the time, we knocked someone else around."

"Delta always gives us all we want," Arban said. "They're big and strong and they love to play hard-nose defense."

Last year the Wildcats finished their season against the Trojans and managed a hard fought 10-6 victory.

The win put the "Cats overall ledger at 6-4 and preserved a winning record and ill-fated season.

"It's important that we play well," said Arban, "even though this is an inter-divisional contest." Arban explained that the league should be extra strong this year and that means every ballgame counts heavily.

"A positive mental attitude means a lot," Arban said, "we don't want to return home with a loss and then play Jones in the home opener."

There is no doubt that the Wildcats will be at a disadvantage by opening on the road and by carrying a limited squad of just 43 players.

"Twenty players will not get to dress out," the head coach said, "and I don't like that at all."

The league set the traveling squad number and it's obvious Arban did not vote for the ruling.

"The players staying home have practiced just like all the rest," Arban said, "and I think they should be allowed to dress and join the entire group."

Arban explained that some of the players not on the traveling squad could possibly see action if the game was at home.

"We'll have to take players who can play more than one position," the PRC coach said, "of course, that may mean a second stringer who can handle only one spot, will stay home."

"I want to go up there and play hard-nose defense and not go crazy," Arban said, "and if we do what we're capable of doing we'll be alright."

The Thursday night encounter begins at 7:30 p.m.

Captains for the first contest will be Mark Toler, Farvis, Roderick Edwards, Lumberton and Alex Kennedy of Pearl River Central.

BASIS OF AWARD

The award, if made, will be made to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the published quantities. Plans and specifications are on file in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and in the Office of the State Aid Engineer, Capitol Providence Building (formerly Petroleum Building), located on Lamar Street in Jackson, Mississippi. Plans and proposals may be secured from Lawrence L. Seal, County Engineer, Post Office Box 135, Piquette, Mississippi, upon payment of $15.00 which will not be refunded.

Certified check or bid bond for five percent (5-percent) of total bid payable to Hancock County and the State of Mississippi, must accompany each proposal.

Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner the condition under which the proposal is tendered will be considered an irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

THE STATE OIL AND GAS BOARD OF MISSISSIPPI
DOCKET NO. 275-80-224
PUBLIC NOTICE
To all owners and persons interested in the Waveland Field, Hancock County, Mississippi, and in particular, the following described land, to-wit:
Beginning at the Northwest Corner of Lot 1, Section 8, Township 8 South, Range 14 West, Hancock County, Mississippi; thence South 89 degrees 51 minutes 10 seconds East 6,000 feet; thence South 00 degrees 45 minutes 51 seconds West 444.67 feet; thence North 89 degrees 51 minutes 10 seconds West 5,000 feet; thence North 00 degrees 45 minutes 51 seconds East 444.67 feet to the point of beginning, containing 640 acres.
Take notice that Spooner Petroleum Company has filed a petition with the State Oil and Gas Board under Docket No. 275-80-224, requesting authority to drill the Spooner Petroleum Company - No. A-1 Cingue Babbini Well on the above described lands to a depth of 13,500 feet to test the Mooringport Formation, the location of said well being an exception to the rules and regulations of this Board in that said well will be located a minimum distance of 310 feet from the North line and a minimum distance of 100 feet from the West line of Section 8, Township 8 South, Range 14 West, Hancock County, Mississippi. Petitioner further requests the Board to integrate all of the oil and gas rights and interests in and under the above described lands for the purpose of establishing a single gas drilling unit for said well, and designating petitioner as operator thereof, with the right to charge the other interested owner or owners for his or their proportionate part of the actual expenditures required for the drilling, completion and operation of said well.
Take notice that said matter will be heard by this Board at 9:30 o'clock A.M. on the 17th day of September, 1980, in the Second Floor Auditorium of the Woolfolk State Office Building, Jackson, Mississippi, at which time and place you may appear and contest said matter.

There's an Answer!

Suicide

Q. Our youngest son, 32, took his own life. He had been ill from the time he was 18. I talked to him an hour before he shot himself, and he said he had a terrible headache.

He told me he was going home and to bed and that he loved me. How can someone say they love you and put you through so much? I am so mixed up. I have been raised to think that taking your life is a sin.

Then how can I ever see my son in heaven? How could I even be happy in heaven if he's not there?

A. When your son took his life, and for some time before, he was, of course, in a state of devastating mental agony and irrationality. He had no desire to be inconsiderate of you. Remember that God is vast. His knowledge of human motivation, that He understands our frailties, and is tremendous in His forgiveness, especially when mentality is not operating normally.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet, Let Your Heart Be Troubled, which is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

Pulling her under

Q. I am married to a man who hates everything and everybody with the exception of me and our daughter. And sometimes I'm not so sure about me. He is almost always in a bad mood, has a terrible temper and the tiniest thing can upset him for hours. The doctor did tests but found nothing physically wrong. I used to be the same way, but I took a good look at myself, had a long talk with God and put myself in His hands, and I really changed. But I find myself slipping back into my old ways and this scares me. Sometimes I feel like I'm drowning and he's helping to pull me under with him. Please help me.

A. If you really changed, so also can your husband. No man should forever live as you describe him. Life is passing him by with its gifts of happiness.

I've found that people can be changed by spiritual visualization or imaging. Picture him as a controlled and peaceful man. Hold that image of him. In time he will respond to such spiritual treatment and become as imaged. This process requires time and patience, but it does work.

A sad way

Q. Our 21-year-old grandson is a dreamer. He lives in a make-believe world in which he is the hero. But in actual life he seems to fear success or anything that requires responsibility. He has had opportunities to better himself in jobs and in education, but the nearer the time comes to begin he seems to get cold feet and runs away. He has ability and lots of good qualities but seems to lack self-confidence.

You can never depend on him for anything. A sad way to begin adult life! He doesn't want any advice, so all we can give him is our love and prayers. Any suggestions?

A. Many young people today react just as your

by Norman Vincent Peale
and Ruth Stafford Peale

grandson does. Why? I'm afraid we haven't asked enough of our youth; we've given too much. And the result is that kids come to expect that life will always deal them success without effort. This is a dismal picture, but it is not too late for reversal. Build up your grandson's confidence by urging him to take on opportunities, small ones at first—so that he'll succeed and be encouraged by his own success. Adopt an attitude that says without words, "We know you can do it. We have faith in you." He'll get the message and be on his way to adulthood.

Phone company groups build Kiln playground

BORING WORK—Hancock County District Four employee Lewis Ellis of Kiln drills a hole in a 'tire tee-pee' which is part of a new children's park near Cuevas Junction in Kiln. Several pieces of playground equipment were built in a joint effort of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Pioneers and Future Pioneers, organizations consisting of South Central Bell employees; Hancock County District Four; South Central Bell; and several local citizens. The employee organizations have constructed similar parks in Lyman, Ocean Springs and North Biloxi. Future Pioneer member Evelyn Necalse of Kiln said the groups will build another park in Long Beach soon.

A LITTLE BIT THIS WAY—Installing and helping straighten a tire tree at a new children's park near Cuevas Junction in Kiln are, from left, Hancock County District Four employee Ernest Gryton of Kiln, Pioneer member Catherine Goss of Piquette, Future Pioneer member Evelyn Necalse of Kiln, Buddy Bourn of Waveland, District Four employee Curtis Bo-linger of Kiln, Future Pioneer member Hale Puffer of Biloxi, Rudy Necalse of Kiln, and Future Pioneer member Jewel Bourn of Waveland. The playground project is part of a community service program of the Pioneers and Future Pioneers, Gulf Coast organizations composed of South Central Bell employees.

ADMIRING NEW SWINGS—After completing a swing set recently for a new children's park near Cuevas Junction in Kiln, the builders took time to admire their work. Standing under the swing frame are, from left, Brian Necalse of Kiln; Mississippi Gulf Coast Future Pioneers Director Joyce Parker of Gulfport; Pioneer Catherine Goss of Piquette; Pioneer Sara Blue of Long Beach; District Four Supervisor Sam Perniclaro of Bay St. Louis; Rudy Necalse of Kiln; Robbie Blue of Long Beach; Future Pioneer Evelyn Necalse of Kiln; and Pioneer Cade Travis of Piquette. The Pioneers and Future Pioneers, organizations of South Central Bell employees, built the park as a community service project along with District Four and several friends.

FRIENDS HELPING—Friends and neighbors of members of the Pioneers and Future Pioneers, Gulf Coast organizations composed of South Central Bell employees, recently pitched in to help build children's playground equipment near Cuevas Junction in Kiln. Building a see-saw are, from left, Hancock County District Four Supervisor Sam Perniclaro; Mike Klehm and Mike Klehm Jr., both of Kiln. The phone company donated poles, the organizations furnished bolts and manpower, and Perniclaro donated tires and county workers for the project.

TREE CLIMBERS—Shortly after members of the Future Pioneers and Pioneers installed a tire tree at a new kids' park near Cuevas Junction in Kiln, children of the workers began climbing up the new piece of playground equipment. Scrambling up a 'tire tree' are, from left, two sons of Ernest Gryton, and Brian Necalse, all of Kiln; Buddy Bourn of Waveland and Robbie Blue of Long Beach. The Gulf Coast organizations recently built the playground as a community service project.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, until 4:00 p.m., Tuesday, September 16, 1980, or shortly thereafter for the base preparation and adjustment of castings on Keller Street, Sycamore Street and Washington Street in the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Payment for the work may be made from Revenue Sharing Funds; therefore, all conditions in the proposal and all of those applicable to the expenditure of revenue sharing funds shall be complied with including the payment of wages in accordance with the DAVIS-BACON Act.

The award, if made, will be to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the lump sum amount bid. Certified check or bid bond for five percent (5 percent) of the total bid must accompany each proposal. A performance bond in the full amount of the contract will be required of the successful bidder.

Plans and proposals may be secured from Broadway and Seal, P.O. Box 135, Piquette, Mississippi, upon payment of $15.00, which will not be refunded.

The Mayor and Council reserve the right to reject any or all bids. Certified check or bid bond will be returned immediately to unsuccessful bidders. Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner the conditions under which the proposal is tendered will be considered an irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

The high cost of producing winter grazing crops makes it very important to get and hold a good stand on early plantings, according to John W. Smith, County Agent.

Early plantings should be made only on fields that have been fallowed several weeks and a good seedbed must be prepared. Following helps build the soil moisture reserve for a quick stand and allows plant residue that was turned under to decompose.

If large amounts of vegetation are turned under, then fertilizer applied and the crop planted immediately, a large part of the nitrogen can be lost in the decomposition process.

Each year many fields that are prepared and then planted immediately grow off slowly due to this lack of nitrogen availability. Since the cost of nitrogen is a major part of the total fertilizer cost, plan to allow at least 14 or more days for incorporated vegetation to decompose before seeding. This helps assure the grazing crop will get the benefit of the nitrogen applied.

When preparing a seedbed, do a good job of breaking the soil and uprooting any permanent grass particularly bermudagrass and bahiagrass. These grasses will continue to grow unless destroyed during seedbed preparation. They will rob nitrogen needed by young grazing plants and often crowd out these seedlings.

A good level of soil fertility is needed to produce high tonnage from winter grazing crops. Lime is the first fertilizer practice needed on acid soil. Fertilize and lime according to soil test, if available. In basence of a soil test, a general recommendation is 60 to 70 pounds of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash (500 lbs. 13-13-13) per acre.

It is impossible to make an accurate lime recommendation without a soil test. If a field has not been limed in several years, the application of one ton per acre would usually be advisable. However, a soil test is the only way to determine the current fertility status of each field so the fertilizer dollar can be applied where it will give the greatest return.

Oats, rye and then wheat in this order, are the best crops to plant early. Seed 4 bushels (120 pounds) oats or 2 bushels (120 pounds) rye or 2 bushels (120 pounds) wheat per acre when planting alone.

The potential for a continued heavy population of fall armyworms and the possibility of "blast" disease make it a risk to seed ryegrass with early cereals. Armyworms often destroy the young ryegrass growing under cereals before the worm infestation becomes evident.

Also, if hot, humid overcast conditions occur in September, the potential for "blast" disease on ryegrass is greatly increased. Ryegrass can be overseeded on early planted cereals when cattle are turned in to graze and they will tramp the seed into the soil.

The planting of cereal-ryegrass mixtures is usually best delayed until after mid-September. Suggested seeding rates for the mixtures are 90 pounds of oats, rye or wheat plus 20 to 30 pounds of ryegrass per acre.

The ideal planting time for ryegrass is late September to early October. Suggested ryegrass seeding rates are 25 to 40 pounds per acre, depending on the planting method. Where seed is broadcast mixed with fertilizer, 40 pounds of seed per acre is suggested.

Where seed are drilled, 25 to 30 pounds of seed per acre is ample. When clovers are seeded with ryegrass or a cereal-ryegrass combination these seeding rates should be reduced and a different fertility program employed.

To successfully grow clover in winter pastures a special production and grazing management program needs to be developed that will allow the clover to produce to its potential.

Be sure to cultipack all early planted fields to help conserve soil moisture and get a uniform stand.

Food stamp applicants must prove expenses

People applying for food stamps could be asked to provide more proof of information on their applications under a rule proposed today by the Department of Agriculture.

Currently, all persons applying for food stamps must document their income, social security number, and certain medical and utility expenses.

Persons who are not U.S. citizens must prove that they are legal aliens who have been admitted to this country for permanent residence.

States are also permitted to require all applicants to provide proof of their liquid assets. In addition, States must require proof of a number of other eligibility factors, such as rent or household composition, whenever the information provided by an applicant is questionable.

The proposed rule would give States authority to conduct additional verification by allowing States to require proof from every applicant of all shelter expenses, all child care expenses, and household size.

The proposed rule would allow States to require documentation of these factors, whether or not the information supplied by the applicant appeared questionable.

In addition, the regulation would put into effect a provision of food stamp legislation enacted in May that allows States to develop a profile of the types of food stamp cases and eligibility factors that are most subject to error. States would then be able to require verification of all information and food stamp cases that fit into these categories shown to be "error prone."

"The error-prone profile can be an important management tool," Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Foreman said. States should be able to use it to target their verification efforts on the information and cases most likely to cause errors. This can help to promote administrative efficiency while reducing errors at the same time."

A SONG FOR FISHERMEN

The effect of sun and moon on fishing success was first questioned about 50 years ago by John Alden Knight, a writer and sportsman who observed that periods of high fish activity coincided with the relative positions of the sun and moon.

His subsequent research developed the "solunar" theory, and earned him many ardent followers plus an equally devoted group of disbelievers who thought Knight was a bit looney.

The solunar theory is of interest to fishermen today because much of what Knight proposed has proven to be accurate.

And although the theory is complex, Mercury outboards' fishing experts explain that it is basically a relationship between major fish activity periods and times when the sun and moon have their greatest gravitational influence upon earth.

Knight found that major periods (thus feeding times) for freshwater and saltwater fish occurred daily when the sun and moon were in alignment with the earth.

This occurs twice a day, when the moon is directly overhead and again when it is directly underfoot.

Called "moon up" and "moon down," these periods cycle ahead approximately 51 minutes each day.

Minor activity periods occur about halfway between. Other times are termed "rest" periods.

Fishermen who want to study the solunar theory should consult a local library for further information.

There is published annually a set of solunar tables which purport to show the daily major and minor activity periods for North America based upon the work done by John Alden Knight.

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

GOD SAVES PEOPLE FOR A PURPOSE! When God saves a believing sinner, He saves him from something, for something, and unto something.

He is saved from going to Hell when he dies. He is saved unto life eternal—nothing short of that. He also saves us to serve.

"For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them"—Eph. 2:10.

God never calls the unsaved to serve Him. He never calls the indolent or idle when He needs men or women for His service.

When God needs a worker He usually calls one who is already working. When He has need of a good servant, He calls one who is busy. As a usual thing, those who are not doing anything "don't have time." Scripture and all history attest to this.

When God called Moses, he was busy with his flocks at Horeb. Gideon was busy threshing wheat when the Lord called him.

Elisha was busy plowing with 12 yoke of oxen. David was busy caring for his father's sheep.

Nehemiah was busy serving the king.

Peter and Andrew were busy with their fishing. James and John were busy mending their nets.

Matthew was busy collecting taxes in Capernaum. Priscilla and Aquilla were busy making tents.

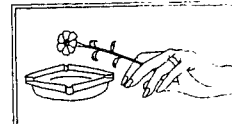

These were useful people in the kingdom work. God knew what He was doing when He called them to serve. They were available. They knew how to best arrange life's priorities—and that's important in life!

Though all these were already busy, they were willing and ready to go a little further when called upon. God always works through those who work! The ability God can use most is availability! In the words of Paul, "As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith"—Gal. 6:10.

When Saul of Tarsus (later called Paul) met the Saviour on the road to Damascus, among the first words he uttered was: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" This pretty well characterized all his future life.

Jesus once asked the question: "Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" His claims of Lordship demands an answer. Prompt obedience to Him is the real evidence and acknowledgement of His Lordship in our lives. He is Lord of all, or else He is not at all.

Gas expense limits shopping trips

By DARLENE L. UNDERWOOD
Extension Home Economist

The current gasoline crunch, brought on by shorter supplies and ever-rising prices, determines how many times consumers go to the supermarket each week, and how they go about their shopping.

Shoppers have become "master planners of meals," according to a Better Homes and Gardens report. More shoppers are making highly detailed grocery lists and covering needs for up to two weeks, meaning less trips to the supermarket.

An increasingly limited number of people are stopping at the supermarket to pick up bread and milk, and perhaps make a few impulse purchases.

Shoppers are hoarding more groceries, stocking up to cut down on trips to the supermarket. They are making extensive use of freezers, cupboards or pantries.

The value of specials has diminished somewhat because of the cost of driving. More consumers are asking themselves, "Is it worth the extra gas to catch a special on frozen vegetables in another supermarket?" Supermarkets are keeping a steady clientele, but see that steady clientele less and less each month as planning becomes more sophisticated.

Sixty-two percent of those queried said they have reduced the number of weekly trips to the supermarket because of higher gas prices. Of that group, 43 percent said they reduced trips by two per week; 36 percent reported a reduction of one trip per week.

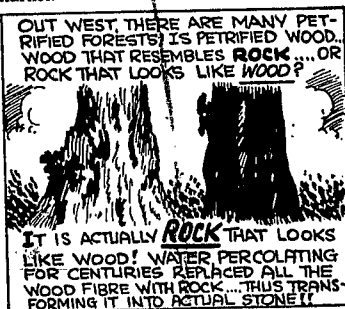

Non-food purchases in supermarkets are reportedly rising because shoppers do not want to go to two or three different stores to fulfill their household needs.
